
Our sustainability policy

Within a firm of such a small size and rented studio space, opportunities to affect our sustainability are limited but it is very important that we do what we can. With this in mind, we should:

- minimise waste, especially in relation to office consumables, food and packaging, lighting and, most of all, heating
- keep up the good work so far as travel is concerned (three, sometimes four out of six walking or cycling to work is not bad)
- continue to be as supportive as possible of client sustainability initiatives.

Alongside, all members of staff are encouraged to identify ways in which we can improve our sustainability and environmental responsibility.
